

MURDERER CONFESSES AFTER FIVE DAYS' GRILLING

RESULT NOW RESTS WITH THE VOTERS

WILL CHOOSE TWENTY-NINTH PRESIDENT OF UNITED STATES AT POLLS ON TUESDAY.

MANY VITAL ELEMENTS

How the Former Progressives, Women Voters and Organized Labor Will Swing Are Among the Decisive Factors.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 6.—Tomorrow about 18,000,000 citizens of the United States will select the twenty-ninth president and vice-president of the republic.

Although there are five national tickets in the field, and one lone vice-presidential aspirant, it is certain that only two of these tickets will figure very largely in the vote counting. The twenty-ninth president, therefore, will be either Woodrow Wilson or Charles Evans Hughes—the first a Democrat, the second a Republican. The unsuccessful ones will be: Socialist—For president, Allan L. Benson of New York; for vice-president, George R. Kirkpatrick of New Jersey.

Prohibitionist—J. Frank Haly of Indiana and Ira Lambirth of Massachusetts.

Conservative Labor—Arthur B. Reimer of Massachusetts and Caleb Harrison of Illinois.

Progressive—John M. Parker of Louisiana, vice-presidential candidate.

Elect 68 Senators.

While the presidential and vice-presidential candidates are struggling for supremacy, sixty-eight men are seeking election to the United States senate in a vote getting race of scarcely less importance. There are thirty-five vacancies to be filled in the upper house of the national legislature. Regardless of which side is successful in the presidential race, the must elect senators to hold majority in the upper house, if they expect to put through their legislation. The Democrats are now in the majority. They must elect thirty-three states where the people are expressing their will on these candidates.

Next to the senatorial race in importance comes the vote for congressmen. There are 435 members of the lower house to be elected, not counting territorial delegates. The present body of representatives is made up of twenty-three votes—counting 197 Republicans and six Socialists as the minority, against 232 Democrats.

Republicans hope to sweep this majority into the discard.

Briefly summarized, the two great parties will stand tomorrow for the great issues—land in this list are given only the outstanding issues:

Claims of Rival Parties.

Democrats—"Wilson kept us out of war."

Republicans—"A vote for Wilson is a vote for war."

Wilson stands for peace with honor and prosperity.

The tariff for revenue policy has proven its entire workableness.

Conservatism of the administration's Mexican policy.

Warning of the chaos which will ensue if the European war is not ended, the tariff is maintained and Europe dumps her goods in the race for commercial supremacy.

"Peace prosperity" due to the European war.

The surrender to force" indicated in passage of the Adamson eight hour railroad bill.

Broken promises by Democracy as to reduction of the cost of living; and as to economy and efficiency.

Of most importance, in the minds of the leaders of the two great parties is the promise which the progressive vote of four years ago will take tomorrow.

Of the traffic under 16,000,000 of population votes cast in 1912, nearly 5,000,000 voted for Roosevelt and Johnson, running of the "third ticket" under the Progressive emblem. That five million of votes, delivered in the hands of the four or five million who are expected to elect either Wilson or Hughes.

But leaders on both sides today pointed out that the defections of 1912 were from both parties and in the years which have passed away many of that five million have re-aligned themselves. The progressive split in June of this year, when Roosevelt sought to swing endorsement of Hughes, brought claims from both Republicans and Democrats that the major part of the five million would be with them tomorrow.

There are two other leaders have endorsed Wilson, possibly a slightly larger number than have endorsed Hughes. How the rank and file vote is likely to determine the election.

Progressives Will Decide.

The five million of Progressives is one "block" vote which has been sought after assiduously by both parties. There are no other blocks for which there has been considerable

JAS. LOUDEN KILLED BY LOCOMOTIVE

James Loudon, aged eighty three of 308 Race street, was caught by a switch engine at the High street crossing shortly before five this afternoon and literally ground to pieces before the eyes of the spectators who were unable to warn the aged gentleman of his danger. His body was removed to Kimball's morgue. Mr. Loudon was one of the old residents of the city and news of his death will come as a shock to his friends.

angling—the labor and the hyphenate vote.

Democracy expects the labor vote to be splitly lined up for Wilson and Democratic policies—mainly because of President Wilson's solution, through the Adamson law, of the threatened railroad strike. President Gompers of the American Federation of Labor is actively supporting the present administration. Democratic leaders also think their present slogan of prosperity will influence workingmen to vote for Wilson and Marshall.

On the other hand, Republican leaders are confident Candidate Hughes' assault on the Adamson bill as a "surrender to force" and an abandonment of the collective principle of bargaining for which labor has so long fought, will make labor vote for the Republican platform.

G. O. P. managers also think a powerful impression has been made by the "false prosperity" revelations which Republican orators have so vigorously pounded home.

As to the "hyphen" vote—Democratic leaders have sought to make campaign material out of the outspoken support by several "hyphenate" leaders of the Republican candidates. Republican managers have steadfastly maintained complete ignorance of the attitude of the hyphenates and have flatly denied any agreement of any kind whatsoever with any faction or group of naturalized Americans.

In at least a dozen states the women have an opportunity to decide the electoral vote of that state. In Illinois there are approximately 800,000 women registered and in the nation as a whole the number is estimated at 10,000,000.

WARSZAWA IS OVERJOYED

Announcements Read Today by German General in Old Polish Capital Are Greeted With Wild Acclaim.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Warsaw, via Berlin and London, Nov. 6.—The manifesto of Emperor William and Emperor Francis Joseph, again calling into existence the ancient kingdom of Poland, was read today to the assembled Polish representatives in the royal palace by Governor Von Beseler. Outside in the great square in the castle and spacious court yard of the venerable fourteenth century pile, inhabitants of the old Polish capital gathered by thousands to attend the ceremony of what is designated as the re-birth of the Polish nation—a concept of importance, the daring of which is making its way into the minds of the people more or less rapidly after its long sleep of more than a century.

Quickest to realize the significance of the day are the academic youths of the country. Students of Warsaw, the polytechnic school, and other higher institutions of learning, who attended the ceremony in corporate suits bearing banners and wearing sash and ribbons, are leading parades and demonstration through the streets bright with red flags. There are volunteers by the hundreds for the Polish army which the manifesto announced would be called into existence.

The ceremony was short and simple. Recited at no General Von Beseler, wearing the decoration granted for the reduction of Antwerp and the Polish fortresses, mounted the dias in the gala ballroom of the old royal castle and in the name of Germany's sovereign read the imperial manifesto in ringing, soldierly tones.

Austrian Emperor's Letter.

Berlin, Nov. 6.—The letter sent by Emperor Francis Joseph to the Austrian minister, Von Koeber, regarding the Polish manifesto, is given by the Vienna Zeitung as follows:

"In accordance with my agreement with his Majesty, the German Emperor, a national state with an hereditary monarchy and a constitutional government will be formed of the Polish district conquered by our brave armies from Russian domination. On this occasion are remembered with emotion the many evidences of devotion and faith during my reign on the part of the land of Galicia, and likewise of the great and heavy sacrifices which that land while exposed to Polish hostility had to make for the victorious defense of the eastern frontiers of my realm—sacrifices which give Galicia everlasting title to my warmest remembrance."

Concession to Galicia.

"It is, therefore, my will at the moment when the new state comes into existence, to grant with my own hand the right to the land of Galicia to settle public affairs autonomously so far as is consistent with the fact that Galicia forms part of our commonwealth, and so far as is consistent with the welfare of that land, and thus to offer to the population of Galicia a guarantee of national and economic development."

Corneval Says He Fired Shot Killing Victim

The Palmero murder mystery has been solved. Vincent Corneval, "Jim the Gunman," the suspect held by Chief of Police Champion since Thursday night, this afternoon confessed that he murdered Ralph Palmero Oct. 20, and claimed that Mrs. William Boschi, the mother of Mrs. Palmero, instigated the crime.

Corneval has been held for five days and has been under constant spasmodic grilling by Chief Champion. He finally wilted this afternoon under the third degree methods and breaking down said that he was ready to confess all.

The instant that Corneval said that Mrs. Palmero's mother, Mrs. Boschi, was behind the murder, Chief Champion sent a flying squadron to the Palmero home at 1121 North street and caused the arrest of the aged woman, her husband and their daughter. They are now confined at the city hall station. To offset any violence an extra guard has been placed about the building.

Evidence unearthed by Chief Champion, Dan G. Torrisi, the Beloit Italian detective, and Patrolman Harry Smith wove the web around the gunman.

Corneval says: "I followed Ralph across the tracks when he came from the party at Golick's house, on South Pearl street. I crept up closer on him and just as he was entering the yard of his house I fired the first time. He was five feet away from me. I walked up closer and fired again. Then he fell. I shot him twice when he was on the ground."

"I ran as fast as I could. I went a long ways away. Then I came back and they were all in the house. I came in the back door and mingled with them."

"I had the gun in my hand all the time I was following Ralph. I threw it in the river. I show you where it is."

"The old lady has been wanting me to kill him since I came here six months ago. He's no good, she said. She said to me to go on out and find a bum to kill him. She said she would give me twenty dollars if I found somebody to kill him. I was a little drunk that night."

"The police think that Corneval was assisted. There were five shots in the murdered man's corneval, claims Corneval. He fired three times and that he did not break his gun to discharge the empty shells. Chief Champion found six shells at the scene, at noon, the day following the murder."

Corneval said he had no reason to kill Palmero other than the constant urging of the victim's mother-in-law. He claimed that she constantly nagged him to do it.

The confession bears out the first contention that Chief Champion held: that the murder was an inside job. The fact that Mrs. Boschi had told Corneval to run over quarter of a mile after hearing the shots to the scene of the crime and found not a single person outside the house around the body gave the police a clue.

Corneval as investigation went along and then with the assignment of the Italian detective, Torrisi, to the case, more evidence unfolded. According to the report and Patrolman Smith work together.

Yesterday an Italian dupe, working with Torrisi, entered the confessor's cell and told him that Mrs. Palmero had a part in the crime and that they had said that Corneval had fired the shots. Momentarily weakened and then by a harsh whisper he heard them from their lips. You must bring them here."

Detective Torrisi, behind the partitioned side of the cell, heard these words and from then on Corneval was subjected to an unmerciful third degree.

He finally confessed. Chief of Police Champion this afternoon prepared to take the confession verbatim and have the Italian attest his signature to it. The chief was also preparing to bring the man to the court, expecting a great deal more information from Mrs. Boschi. Mrs. Palmero is also to be held as belief is strong that she knew as much as her mother of the crime.

The belief is that William Boschi, father of Mrs. Palmero, had nothing to do with the murder.

With two murder mysteries, two suicides, a mysterious disappearance, a suspected incendiary fire, a street railway car fatality and an automobile wreck in the past week, excitement in Rock county would have been further increased with a third double murder and suicide, according to the report of the town of Fulton.

Fulton had William Felder, another man, who was charged with the charge of threatening to murder himself, Fulton, and his wife, Mary, and for the making of an attempt to carry out suicide, was held in the jail, according to the report.

Judge Maxfield adjourned the case until a week from tomorrow, Nov. 14.

Enough was gained from Fulton at the court room to find that he alleges that Felder came to his home the day previous, Nov. 3, made the threat and attempted to carry it out. Fulton swore out a warrant for the arrest.

SLAIN MAN FOUND TO BE EX-CONVICT

IDENTIFIED AS H. A. KRAUSE, INMATE AT WAUPUN PRISON, RELEASED LAST TUESDAY.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

New York, Nov. 6.—President Wilson and Charles E. Hughes, candidates of the dominant parties for president, remained quietly at their homes today, recuperating from the labors of the long campaign. The last word sent forward by them to the people, was an expression that each felt confident of victory.

President Wilson's only activity tomorrow, will be a trip to Princeton to vote. Tomorrow night he will receive returns privately in his study at Shadow Lawn.

Mr. Hughes remained at his hotel early in the forenoon, but later visited the national republican headquarters, where he stated he would thank the workers there for their efforts in his behalf. He intended to take a drive to the park this afternoon, and spend the rest of the day quietly at his hotel. Tomorrow he will vote in his home district here, and tomorrow night he will get the returns in his hotel rooms.

Like Mr. Wilson, he plays his family only immediate members at his hotel with him when the returns come.

LA FOLLETTE RESTS; IS SURE OF RESULT

Madison, Wis., Nov. 6.—Senator Robert L. La Follette today awaiting the election tomorrow. He came back here Sunday from Loyal, where he concluded his campaign Saturday night. He was elected to the senate in 1905, and has visited several counties of the state. He had not been in since he left the executive office in 1905.

Senator Charles H. Crownhart in a statement today said that La Follette was sure of re-election and indicated that in his judgment he will receive the largest ever given to La Follette in any of his many state campaigns.

"Feeling just fine," was the only statement made by the senator today. He said that he had covered more ground in a short time in the recent campaign than in any conducted. He plans to rest and will receive his grade ten days after the election at the Bluff farm. Tuesday noon the senator will be the guest of the young men of the city who have a round table at the Madison club.

Runaway Coal Train WRECKS LOCOMOTIVES

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Altoona, Pa., Nov. 6.—Dashing uncontrolled down the ten mile grade on the Portage branch of the Pennsylvania railroad, a heavy freight train crashed into four engines standing at Portage Junction, five miles south of here. W. K. Thompson, fireman, was killed, and W. A. Baker, engineer, was seriously injured. Five others are missing and are believed to have been buried in the wreckage.

The train, composed of eight engines and sixty cars, was going down the grade ten miles from the scene of the accident, when the engineer lost control. Gaining momentum at every moment, the train soon attained great speed and crashed into the rails. Clyde Hall, a haggard, and Oliver Baumgardner, were in the caboose, but kept their seats and were not hurt. While the fireman was escaping with slight injuries.

Forty-seven of the loaded coal cars followed the engine and were reduced to a mass of twisted steel. A few tons of water broke out and firemen were hurried from neighboring towns.

Fiber Sponges.

The Loo-fah sponge, now in general use, is made from the network of fiber from the inside of the gourd, probably one of the oldest vessels known to man. Japan furnishes the best sponges of this kind. The fiber used in the Loo-fah sponge is dried thoroughly, after which it becomes wholesome and crisp.

Glasses Making an Old Art.

Among the Romans an art of glass making does not date earlier than the beginning of the empire, but as far back as 68 B. C. the theaters had been decorated with mirrors and glass plates.

OLD POLITICS HAS APPEAL TO VOTERS

TALKS TO THE YOUNG MEN

Makes Classification for the Benefit of Wisconsin Voters to Be Carefully Heeded by Electors.

(By Old Politics).

At every quadrennial election an army of new voters march to the polls and cast their ballots. There are but such an army at the polls in Wisconsin this year. It may interest these new voters to know that Wisconsin has cast her electoral vote every time for the republican candidate for president, except for Cleveland in 1892 and four years ago, when the state went to Wilson, which was not very much of a departure from its previous record. In doing this Wisconsin has lined up consistently for republican principles with the great progressive states of the Union, and has helped to make the republican principles and that standard of political morals which secures to every citizen in this right to vote and thus participate in the government of his country. In this group of reliable republican states there is for every citizen a square deal at the ballot box.

But there is a group of states of which this cannot be said, where the freedom of the ballot is not guaranteed, and where the essential principles, for which Wisconsin has stood, are being undermined. These are the states of the south, where the republican principles and that standard of political morals which secures to every citizen in this right to vote and thus participate in the government of his country. In this group of reliable republican states there is for every citizen a square deal at the ballot box.

The average illiteracy of the country, taking aliens, Chinese, Indians and Japs into account, is 7.7 per cent, and yet in this solid democratic phalanx the illiteracy is more than double that amount.

The total vote cast by this dominant southern bloc in the democratic caucus control of the government is, in round numbers, 2,136,000, which is less than the combined vote of Pennsylvania, Indiana and Kansas, and less than the combined vote of the country cast in 1912.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

A RAILROAD MAN'S SUGGESTION TO ALL RAILROAD MEN

There is a growing realization among railroad men who are that a wage law is a gold brick. Under this law it will be possible for the railroad to pay by the day instead of by the mile, thus reducing the wages of the men. This is a suggestion of Edward J. Dwyer, formerly chief engineer of the central division of locomotives of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad, and a prominent suggestion to fellow railroad men while analyzing this point. In his letter Mr. Dwyer says:

Dear Sir:—Through your paper, I appeal to the railroad men of the United States. It has now been fifty-eight days since the so-called eight-hour law was enacted. It has now been fifty-eight days since the so-called eight-hour law was enacted. It has now been fifty-eight days since the so-called eight-hour law was enacted.

In a few days, President Underwood of the Erie, announced that he should support Woodrow Wilson for president. He said that he would support Woodrow Wilson for president. He said that he would support Woodrow Wilson for president.

It is possible for the railroad companies and their employees both to make more money by a law that does not increase rates. Either one or the other will be duped, which will be the result.

BELOIT JOY-RIDERS SUFFER IN ACCIDENT

Man Has Leg Broken and Woman Hurts Back—Two Others Have Minor Injuries.

Speeding along a country highway at dusk, "just about as fast as a small car can turn a wheel," a party of four Beloit joy-riders came to grief near the county home. Sunday afternoon, the driver had his leg broken and his woman companion suffered injury to the back, an arm sprained and a scalp wound. The car was overturned and the driver was killed. The machine was stuck in the ditch and the car was overturned.

Carl Olson, 316 Garfield avenue, Beloit, was the driver. He was killed. The driver was killed. The driver was killed. The driver was killed. The driver was killed.

A Janesville woman driving to the city reported to the police that she saw a man crawling from beneath the machine. She was too scared to stop. Dr. S. P. Richards and party came along but a moment after the accident. They found the man crawling from beneath the machine.

The top shelf of the medicine closet may be kept for emergency supplies. Especially where there are children these things are necessary—antidotes for poison, antiseptic washes and such supplies.

Shapes of Heads.

In the New Medical Record Dr. David I. Moch of Baltimore, noting various "malformations of the head that are met with by the modern clinician, speaks of three that are enumerated in the Talmud which disfigured one from ministering as a priest. These are named as the "kilon," the "lafton" and the "maqbon."

SEEK TO LEGALIZE FIRE BULLETS' USE

London, Nov. 6.—The use of "fire bullets" in machine guns is legitimate warfare.

This is the stand taken by the British authorities in protesting through the American embassy to Berlin against the German threat to deal with two British airmen captured with the "fire bullets" in their possession. The fire bullet, British authorities assert, is a German invention. The British military authorities adopted it after capturing some from the Germans months ago, they say. Just about the time the German military authorities announced they intended to court-martial the British airmen captured in Belgium, a Zeppelin was brought down in England amply supplied with "fire bullets." In their negotiations through the American embassy the British authorities have given Germany to understand that the crew of the "fire bullet" Zeppelin are prisoners.

The "fire bullet" is a "marker" for machine gunners—one "fire bullet" being fired on machine gun ammunition at long intervals to show the gunner where he is firing. It emits smoke and flame during its route.

John Jacob Bach has petitioned the war department to allow the use of the Sparta military reservation as a training field for aviation purposes. In his petition Mr. Bach calls attention to the fact that the range near Sparta comprises 15,000 acres in which streams of water originate. Spur tracks on both sides of the Northwestern and Milwaukee lines run to the camp and near the tracks are huge warehouses that could be used to store the aeroplanes.

work is so trying that they have found themselves attempting to read the Morse code into every succession of sounds they hear. The trot of a horse or the honking of an auto horn, they say, invariably spell out some weird messages. The drumming of rain on the roof, the clatter of the army service wagons and even the patter of machine-gun bullets come to the nervous telegraphers as code messages.

INDIANAPOLIS, INDIANA

October, 31st 1916

To Whom it may Concern:

I will work for and vote for the Republican Ticket because I confidently believe that the welfare of the Country demands the restoration of the Republican Party to control of Public affairs. No Wage earner should be deceived or confused by fake issues advanced by the Democrats. The overshadowing issue before the American Laborer to-day is the re-establishment of the protective Tariff system. Every thoughtful man knows that the present Industrial activity in this Country is due entirely to War Orders from Europe and that when the Foreign War comes to an end we will be confronted with Democratic Free Trade, which never has failed to bring disaster to the American Wage earner. The four Years will prove a crucial period in our national life. This Government must be administered by competent and efficient men. If the interests of the Workmen and their Families are to be safeguard the Republican Ticket must win at the Polls next Tuesday.

From the standpoint of the American laborer, we are of the opinion that the most important issue is protection, for in no other way can the standards of living we now have be maintained. Every laboring man knows that before the European War commenced many workmen were out of employment in this country, and that there was every indication of an acute condition in the immediate future. The war has temporarily prevented this condition; but it will certainly recur as soon as the war is over unless some steps are taken to repeal the Democratic free trade law now on the statute books; for every Democratic tariff which has been passed since the Civil War has brought disaster to the American wage-earner, and the present law from the point of protection is the least favorable to the maintenance of our national standards of any of the laws for which the Democratic Party is responsible.

No other party than the Republican can be depended upon to restore a suitable protective tariff system and we shall, therefore, work and vote for the Republican ticket, believing that we are doing the best thing possible to safeguard the interests with which we are charged.

CHICAGO LABOR FOR HUGHES.

Building Trades Council Says President Wilson Lacks Sympathy.

Special to The Washington Post.
Chicago, Oct. 21.—One branch of organized labor swung into line for Charles E. Hughes tonight when the Chicago Building Trades Council, of which Simon O'Donnell is president, adopted resolutions urging the defeat of President Wilson because of lack of sympathy with the American workmen.

Arthur D. Burbank, chairman of the legislative board of railroad trainmen in Illinois, issued a statement declaring that railroad employees are turning from President Wilson.

"It is the first time our national officers have attempted to tell us how we must vote, and there are thousands like myself who will not stand for such dictation," said Mr. Burbank. "I am convinced that the sentiment among the railroad men for Hughes is growing stronger every day."

This is Labor's Answer to the Attempt To Deliver the American Workingman's Vote

THE labor vote cannot be delivered to the Democratic party. The bulk of it throughout the country will go to Hughes was the positive declaration of Thomas J. Williams, one of the most prominent trade unionists in the United States, in course of an interview in Pittsburg on November 1, 1916.

Mr. Williams is National President of the Building Trades department of the American Federation of Labor, which includes every craft in any way identified with the building industry.

It has a membership of nearly one and a half million men, all mechanics, which is more than fifty per cent of the entire membership of the organization of which Samuel Gompers is the head.

Mr. Williams has just completed a tour of the south and middle west, in course of which he talked with representatives of every industry and addressed seven national conventions of labor organizations.

"No man or group of men can deliver the labor vote to the Democratic party," said Mr. Williams. "The American workingman always has supported the Republican ticket, and for a very practical reason."

"He knows that the Republican party stands for the great principle of protection to American industry, and that without such protection there can be no prosperity for him. The wage earners of this country today consider the re-establishment of the protective tariff system the one great issue before them, and they will vote accordingly next Tuesday.

"No sensible laboring man is deceived by the present abnormal industrial activity in the United States. We all know that war orders from Europe are responsible for it.

"If the foreign conflict should end tomorrow, the wage earners of this country would be confronted with precisely similar conditions to those which confronted them during the first two years of the Wilson administration—idle mills, dead locomotives, men out of employment, and business depression everywhere.

"The workingman will vote next Tuesday for the Republican ticket because he will then vote for his own material welfare.

"In my trip through the south and west, I discussed the political situation with hundreds of laboring men. I found no indication anywhere of a pronounced trend of sentiment in the ranks of the wage-earners towards the Democratic party."

The Republican Protective Tariff protects workingmen's wages without increasing the cost of living. The question is shall we have a Democratic tariff that only pretends to help the wage-earner or a Republican tariff that really protects him.

Vote for Hughes

LABOR LEADERS INDORSE HUGHES

Resolutions Adopted at Meeting of the Building Trades Council of Philadelphia

Declaring that President Wilson has proved himself an enemy of organized labor and that, on the contrary, Mr. Hughes has shown himself the friend of labor throughout his whole career, a series of resolutions supporting the candidacy of Mr. Hughes was passed last night at a meeting of the Philadelphia Building Trades Council, representing in all about 100,000 men. The meeting was held in the Parkway Building, and the resolutions were passed after a spirited discussion. Frank J. Schneider presided.

A standing vote was taken. The resolution declared that until his entrance into politics six years ago, President Wilson had proved himself a "harsh, bitter and unjust critic" of labor unions, and had shown by his speeches and his writings, in his books, that he had no sympathy with the labor movement. The statement was attributed to him that "Labor unions dragged the highest men to the level of the lowest," and he was quoted as being a "ferocious partisan of the open shop."

The passage was cited from President Wilson's book, "The History of the American People," where he asserted that the Chinese labor was preferable to the Polish, Slavonic or Italian. On the other hand it was declared that Mr. Hughes had been shown by his words, his deeds and his record, that he had been a friend of labor and of labor unions during his entire career.

Mr. Hughes' utterance, that he regarded labor unions as a "fine opportunity for the improvement of the condition of the workingman," was quoted, and his statement, "the interests of labor are the interests of all people and the protection of the wage earner in the security of life and health by every practical means, is one of the most sacred trusts of society."

"We vigorously condemn," read the resolution, "the action of labor leaders in endeavoring to create opposition to Mr. Hughes, and with the belief in mind that all labor unions should be kept free from political parties, we urge all our members, as well as those of other unions and locals, to cast their votes as their interest best demands."

COOPER TO ADDRESS REPUBLICAN RALLY AT MYERS TONIGHT

Congressman Will Discuss Campaign Issues in Speech This Evening at Myers Theatre.

Congressman Henry Allen Cooper of Racine, representing the first Wisconsin district, who is a candidate for re-election to the national congress, will speak at eight o'clock tonight at the Myers theatre on the issues of the campaign now drawing to a close. It will be a Republican rally in which Republicans and supporters of Candidate Hughes will join with enthusiasm. The Republican candidates on the county ticket will be present and will occupy seats on the stage with other prominent Republicans of the city and county. County Chairman Frank P. Starr will preside and will introduce the congressman and will introduce the speakers.

It is probable that Congressman Cooper will confine his remarks principally to national issues. His long term of service in the House of Representatives qualifies him to speak with authority on many of the important matters which have been discussed in the campaign. He will have something to say in regard to it.

Mr. Cooper's last public appearance in Janesville was on July 4th, 1914, when he delivered the patriotic address at the Janesville celebration. He is an orator of more than average ability and will give a splendid presentation of the issues involved in the campaign.

Mr. Cooper is expected to arrive in this city late this afternoon and will make his headquarters at the Myers Hotel, where a reception will be held just previous to the address. The Janesville Military band has been secured to give a concert of patriotic airs preceding the meeting.

County Chairman Starr is confident that Wisconsin will carry for Hughes by a substantial margin. In a statement today he said:

As we near the last lap of a great political campaign, the public survey indicates a satisfactory majority for the entire republican ticket in Wisconsin. The nominees on the republican ticket, county, state and national, are all ideal candidates. They are men of integrity and highly efficient. They all received their nominations fair and above board. They stand for the old principles of the republican party. They stand for the American workman, farmer and manufacturer. They will receive the support of those who believe in the protection of American first, Hughes and the republican party second. But Wilson, never again.

STEEL WAR HELMET HAS SEVERAL USES

The new helmet.

Leonard D. Mahon, formerly of the U. S. army, and now member of the Washington police department, has invented a helmet of chrome steel which can be strapped to the regular army hat, as shown in the photograph, and which when detached from the hat can be used as a trench digger or a mess bowl. The helmet weighs less than two pounds and resembles a sugar spoon. Mahon has submitted his invention to the ordnance bureau of the army and hopes to have it accepted as a part of the soldier's regular equipment.

NORTH DAKOTA MAN CALLED AS PASTOR OF BAPTIST CHURCH

Reverend R. G. Pierson, Formerly of Milwaukee, Has Accepted Offer of Janesville Church.

Announcement was made on Sunday that the Reverend R. G. Pierson of Grand Forks, North Dakota, has accepted the call of the First Baptist church of this city to become its pastor. No information has been received as to the date on which the Rev. Pierson will come to Janesville to take up his duties as minister, but the place will be open to him at the earliest time he can arrange his affairs. Dr. C. E. Lapp, who has been acting pastor since the resignation of Rev. Joseph C. Hansen, will continue to serve until the Rev. Pierson arrives.

The Rev. Pierson was formerly at the South church, in Milwaukee, where he enjoyed nine years of distinguished service. He went to Milwaukee to Grand Forks, where he has been pastor of a thriving church, which has the reputation of being one of the progressive and up-to-date churches of the northwest. Mr. Pierson has an enviable reputation in his denomination in Wisconsin, where he is recognized as an able and courageous leader. He is a young man with enthusiasm and zeal for his chosen calling, and promises to be an excellent minister for the Janesville church and community.

Mr. Pierson was graduated from Colgate College and from the University of Chicago Divinity School. He has had much valuable experience in practical church affairs, and is a student and scholar as well. He has the highest recommendation from his former church in Milwaukee and from throughout the state. He occupied the pulpit at the local church several weeks ago, and the impression he made was so favorable that he was given a unanimous call.

Mr. Pierson is married, his wife being a Milwaukee young woman. They have several children.

GRADE SCHOOL BOYS AT Y. M. C. A. TONIGHT

Supper and Play Hour for All Grade School Members of Y. M. C. A. Starts at Six O'clock.

All grade school members of the Y. M. C. A. are to bring their lunches to the association building this evening for a six o'clock supper, to be followed by a play hour under the direction of the Y. M. C. A. staff. The supper has been looked forward to by all the boys as one of the big "Y" events of the season.

During the evening, in addition to the games and stunts, a number of Bible classes will be formed. Last year the association conducted a series of these classes among the grade school boys, and this year with a school enrollment, the officers hope to have an even more successful season.

The business men's gym class, which has grown much in the past few weeks, will meet for their regular class work. A large number of young men in Janesville whose work keeps them inactive in an office, have found the exercise they could get under the direction of the Y. M. C. A. to be of almost inestimable value in keeping them in good healthy trim throughout the winter.

The senior classes also meet this evening under Physical Director Boyd.

A regular meeting of the Woman's Relief Corps will be held Tuesday afternoon, Nov. 7th. Anna Morse, Secretary.

TWO DAUGHTERS OF MILLIONAIRE GOULD

THE LAD SMILES AND WHY SHOULDN'T HE?
HAS $5,000,000 GOOD AMERICAN DOLLARS

The smile on the lad's face may be accounted for by the fact that he is the richest boy in the world and has a fortune of $5,000,000. He is the son of the late Thomas E. Sheelin, millionaire yachtsman and financier and one of the greatest athletes ever turned out by Yale. The youngster is a native of Minneapolis, Minn.

WONDERFUL TONIC IS SMILE

Does Wonders in Smoothing Out the Rough Places That Are Met on Life's Journey.

A smile is the bright green carpet of grass that covers the brown earth—the first sign that winter is over, the Telephone News says.

A smile is the rippling, softly tinted bloom that covers the erstwhile bare, black limbs of the fruit trees.

A smile is the light, feathery sheen of green that bursts from the brown buds of bush, plant and tree with the first warm rays of the springtime sun.

Like it? Well, here's some more! A smile is the song of a meadow lark to its mate as together they build their nest.

A smile is the bright warm sunlight after the gentle pattering shower; it changes the very face of nature, transporting the gloom into the joyousness of a wonderful day.

So nature smiles while heavy hearts grow light, and life is new again!

If nature's smile has such a potency, what may we not expect from a smiling human countenance or the human "voice with the smile?"

There's a "Miss Benevolence" at the head of the "Complaint Bureau" of a large institution, so vouchsafes a contemporary who is all but stone deaf!

Important points of the bitter and often unreasonable arguments of red-faced, explosive complainers are handed to her on memoranda by a clerk who stands in back and listens.

But "Miss Benevolence," all unaware of the stormy words hurled at her, smiles and smiles and smiles.

And then smiles some more, with never a smirk, 'til the storm of unreason—and, you know, it's apt as not to be unreason—is over.

And the storm always does pass by, for she never loses that genial composure, but smiles and returns smiling, soft spoken words for wrathful and bitter invective.

Don't think that a mouth with up-turned corners denotes weakness or that there's such a thing as being too proud to grin; for you can fight the good fight better when you smile.

There was a time when grim visaged, deep chested men once roamed the earth, whose mighty roar set whole cities trembling in their path. But, bless your heart, they have gone the way of all hubbards of the past! The "stuffed club" of benevolence and good humor does most of the winning these days.

STRIVE TO BE IN HARMONY

No One Has a Right to Communicate His "Out-of-Sorts" Feeling to Those About Him.

"Harmony is what is missing in this world. When any of my machines are out of harmony, they put me out of harmony; I am out of harmony with those with whom I come in contact, and they consequently put others out of harmony, and that is the way it spreads. When one is out of harmony with one's self, he is out of harmony with God."

These are the statements of one of the greatest peace-makers of the day. His ideas are well founded.

When you arise in the morning and are out of harmony with yourself, you are bound to communicate the effect to all the members of your family.

By so doing you are changing what might have been a bright day to one of gloom to those for whom you should strive to make happiness.

A wife irritated by her husband is likely to be cross to the children, and then they go out and fight with their companions.

Don't let yourself be "out of sorts." It is bad for you; it is bad for your family; it is bad for your neighbors.

Mean Rejoicing.

"I am cursed with such a mean disposition," said J. Fuller Gloom, looking fixedly at Tennyson J. Draft, "that I rejoice every time I think that the girl who rejected me when I was young afterward married a fellow who turned out to be a poet."—Kansas City Star.

Enemies.

The reason we are to love our enemies is because we cannot help but be nice to those we love, and nobody we are nice to is going to be our enemy very long. It's the enemy we hate who remains our enemy.

NEWS NOTES from MOVIELAND

William Russell, the powerful bull, the cleverest amateur boxer in the country. He knocked Al Kaufman out in a film fight one day not long ago, having been instructed by the director to put lots of "ginger" in his work.

Kaufman afterwards wanted Russell to go regularly into the fighting game, assuring him that he would have it on all the heavyweights after a few years' knocking about, but Russell is making too much money in the photo-play game to forsake it for the uncertain purses of professional pugilism.

Russell is nearly as big as Jess Willard and one of his pet ambitions is to get the mitts on with Jess some time or other for a friendly tryout.

BLANCHE SWEET.

Blanche Sweet's next picture, "Up-protected," will be released soon. It is the story of an innocent girl convicted of a crime and sentenced to a long term in jail. She is a Southerner and in accordance with the customs which prevail locally is farmed out by the warden to work on a cotton plantation in the neighboring turpentine groves.

The story itself is a thrilling drama, detailing the sufferings of this innocent girl, who soon finds that she is in imminent peril of becoming the personal slave of the man to whom she has been leased as a laborer by the state. The rest of the story concerns itself with the rescue of the girl from her perilous position and the ultimate amelioration of the condition of the other prisoners of the camp.

PROPOSAL MAYBE.

Jack Mower, leading man with Margarita Fischer, received a proposal of marriage from a native prince of a small island in the Pacific.

At least she said she is a princess and he said it was a proposal of marriage.

Others who understand the language say she was asking for his necktie to wear in her hair.

William Russell has just started the production of a five-act feature, in which he plays the leading role, that of a highly educated Indian, who discovers a wonderful cure for a dreaded malady. His acting on this characterization will be based on his knowledge of Indian life. Charlotte Bronte will have the principal female role.

NEW MYERS THEATRE.

"A Pair of Queens." The cast selected by H. H. Frazer for the special tour of "A Pair of Queens," which includes this city, is one of the best ever organized to appear outside of New York and Chicago. The score of wonderfully drawn characters in the comedy are in the hands of expert farceurs and fun-makers, and the production is identical with the one used in New York and Chicago. The special tour of "A Pair of Queens" is limited to only the principal cities of the United States and Canada, and this force will lighten the gloom in every community it visits.

Virginia Pearson began work recently on a new picture. One of the members of the supporting cast will be Sidney D'Aubrey, in the role of a "stool pigeon." Mr. D'Aubrey has been in the silent drama for many years and did slapstick work in the leading circuses before that time. Keanan Buel is directing that photoplay.

Mrs. Mary Benson, known in the photoplay world as "Mother," died a few days ago. Mary will miss her.

DERISION.

"Romeo and Juliet," in both movie productions, shows characters in the play expressing derision of others by "biting their thumbs at them."

Ohio censors make fine distinctions. They still busily bar an equally ancient gesture described as "tumbing the nose."

One may bite one's thumb in the movies, it appears, but one must not thumb one's nose.

According to the newspaper critic of New York and Chicago, "A Pair of Queens" is the most amusing play seen in many years. It will make two performances here tomorrow night—one at 8:15 and one at 11:30.

WOMAN'S PAGE

Heart and Home Problems

By Mrs. Elizabeth Thompson
Letters may be addressed to Mrs. Thompson, in care of The Gazette.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am nineteen, and really believe I am in love and don't know it. Last winter I went to several dances and met a very nice young man who is twenty-one. Each time I saw him at a dance he would try to get all the dances he could, and of course he wanted to accompany me home, and seemed crazy about me.

At the time I was going to these dances, I was keeping a steady company with another man about nine years older than myself, and when I heard I was going to these dances he threatened me if I let anyone else take me home.

Since last winter I have not kept company with either young man, and I just cry and think how nice this young man was at the dances. I would give anything if this certain young man would make an engagement with me, but I am afraid that if I do, I will lose the pleasure of dancing or talking to him again, as I very seldom see him.

Would it be all right to invite him to a party and ask him to be my partner for the evening? If so, shall I write him a personal letter? I cry myself to sleep sometimes and think it is very foolish of me, but I can't help myself.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I have a boy nineteen years old, who persists in keeping company with a girl of sixteen whose mother has not at all ways had a good character. The girl acts all right now, but I am afraid in time she will be like her mother. There are other girls who are crazy about him and would like to go with him as he is a nice boy and very good-looking, but he doesn't care for any one except this girl. What would you advise me to do to keep him from going with her?

WORRIED MOTHER.
Do you think it is Christian to object to doing your part in keeping the little girl good? If the time comes when you consider your son too good for her and you expect her to turn out badly, she may become so discouraged that she will lose interest in you. You should be a good father and live up to what is expected of them. If you and your son believe in this little girl, I do not think she will disappoint you. Perhaps you think that the girl would not amount to much if she would be affected by an opinion. Remember that she is only a child and all children are susceptible to suggestion.

Your son will love and respect you more if you sympathize with him and try to understand his love for the girl. If he thinks that you judge her unjustly, he will be disappointed in you and less ready to give you his confidence in the future.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am certainly puzzled, and so please help me. Last May I received a wedding announcement from a friend who lives in another town. I was away at the time, and my folks put the letter in a desk and forgot it.

I have been traveling all summer and have just come back. I came across this announcement, and I don't know whether I ought to write and explain matters to her or send her a gift. What should I do?

Puzzled.
An announcement does not call for a present. Write the girl a note and wish her happiness; at the same time tell her that you were away when the announcement came. If you would like to send a gift, it will be all right.

Household Hints

THINGS WORTH KNOWING.

If kitchen sink becomes clogged, attach a piece of hose to faucet and let water run in drain pipe. This will open soon.

To Keep Little Tots' Mittens From Slipping Off.—Measure off length of rubber, or the first size rubber elastic, to fit the little wrists (not tight) and sew to inside of wrists of mittens.

To Wash Flannels and Sweaters.—For flannels, make a lukewarm sud with some good wool soap, add tablespoon of ammonia for each pair of flannel, soak flannels in this ten or fifteen minutes, then pour out the water and wash out in cold water. Wring them through the clothes wringer; rinse in lukewarm water and again put them through wringer. If you have only a few pieces and do not want to bother with the tub and wringer, simply lift them from the suds to the rinse water and hang them up out of this to drip dry.

For sweaters, knit or crocheted jackets and the like: Proceed same as with flannels, but when it comes to wringing them, fold each piece in some piece of cotton, such as an apron or a piece of an old sheet, and put through the wringer. To dry, if it is sunny, spread a piece of the sun, place article loosely upon it and cover with another sheet.

If it is cloudy they will dry if spread out in a warm room. Do not hang them out.

THE TABLE.
Good Meat Dish (cheap but nourishing).—About one and one-half pounds stewing beef, cut in cubes, one onion, one celery and a few leaves of parsley or celery; add water and cook slowly until meat is tender, adding water as it cooks away. Taste and add salt and pepper. Boil enough for soup, set aside till next day. Add boiled potatoes to meat and thicken gravy.

German Potato Dumplings.—Take eight large or one dozen small potatoes which have been boiled and skinned the day before; grate, mix with one-half cup butter, salt, pepper and one tablespoon baking powder; add one tablespoon onion or lard in which one small onion and a little parsley have been cooked nicely (all well fine). Add one large egg, one cup milk, salt, pepper and nutmeg to taste. Have two cups of nice hard-browned croutons. Take large tablespoonful of potato mixture, roll in a ball, drop into boiling salted water and let boil (not too hard) without covering twelve to fifteen minutes. Croutons should be fried in butter and served; they don't get soaked unless they were not placed in the center or boiled too long. If any are left, cut in half and fry on a skillet with brown butter; they are fine that way.

Baked Ham With Rice.—Cook one cup of rice for twenty minutes, drain. Put as many slices of ham as you wish in a frying pan, put a cooked rice on the ham, over all put a pint of sweet milk and bake for one and one-half hours in the oven. The rice will be rich and very good meal.

Delicious Cake Without Eggs.—One cup thick sour milk, one cup sugar, one-half cup melted lard, one and three-fourths cups of flour, one cup chopped raisins, pinch of salt, one teaspoon soda, one teaspoon cinnamon, one-half teaspoon each of cloves and nutmeg. Stir into sour milk, add melted lard and sugar, salt and spices. Put flour over raisins and stir all together. Bake in tin, when tried with a toothpick, cake will not stick to pick. This makes one large loaf or twelve little gem cakes.

Economical Pie.—One pint dried apples soaked over night in water. Boil until soft and mash thoroughly in crock. Add one cup chopped seed raisins, three tablespoons sugar; spices if you wish. Beat this until smooth, then add one cup of water and two cups milk. This makes two or three pies, according to size of pans. Can omit the raisins.

Kentucky Waffles.—Two cups white corn meal, two cups boiling water, one cup milk, one cup flour, two eggs, one teaspoon salt, one-fourth cup melted butter and lard mixed, one-fourth cup sugar, three teaspoons baking powder. Cook meal in boiling water twenty minutes. Mix and add dry ingredients alternately with milk, add eggs well beaten, and melted butter. Cook as waffles.

Scotch Roly Poly (economical).—Mix two cups flour with one cup finely minced suet, one teaspoon baking powder, pinch salt. Add cold water to make soft dough. Roll out five times making a waste about twelve inches by seven. Spread over this a thick jam or half-cooked fruit (do not put too near edges). Wet with egg. Grease tin, roll up, wrap well around. Have cloth large enough to be able to tie ends well, squeeze ends well. Place in pan of hard boiling water and boil two and one-half hours. Serve with hot jam or fruit sauce.

The Highflyers

Marjory Has a Plan for Getting Even With Her Husband.

To tell the truth, Marjory was very uneasy all day. Tom had left her in high dudgeon in the morning because she refused to get up and get his breakfast. She showed her nervousness more as it neared the time for him to come home and dress for dinner.

"What if I have gone too far and he is seriously angry," she reflected as she pressed her pretty feathers in the glass. "My nose is a perfect sight tonight; it is so shiny." She made a desperate attempt to remedy the defect by dabbing powder on the troublesome member.

The elevator door clicked and a firm step resounded on the marble floor. Tom came in, he pumped herself into a chair and passed and the intent listening attitude was succeeded by a droop of discouragement.

"What if he shouldn't come?" She referred to the watch on her wrist. "Half-past five. He is never late in the morning." She propped her chin up on her hand and with narrowed lids began to think.

"He is punishing me for my stubborn refusal to do as he wished this morning." Her mouth closed in a hard little line and her eyes snapped. "I am to be left alone here this evening, to meditate on my sins. Well, it is my next move." She sat motionless for ten minutes, then sprang to

BIG MADISON ESTATE TO HISTORICAL SOCIETY

Madison, Wis., Nov. 6.—Through the death without heirs of George Burrows the estate of his father who died on Feb. 25, 1909, become the property of the State Historical society. At the time of Burrows' death the estate was appraised at $115,000. A considerable portion of it still consists of real estate and other non-income producing property which will be converted into cash. A conservative estimate places the present value of the estate at $250,000. The income from such a fund will make possible the prosecution by the State Historical society of many important enterprises in the field of Wisconsin and western history which lack of funds hitherto rendered impracticable.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE]

Madison, Wis., Nov. 6.—More than six hundred different pictures of Wisconsin birds have been taken and mounted on slides by A. R. Cahn, bird specialist of the University of Wisconsin department of zoology. The pictures include about one hundred different species of Wisconsin birds, and it is to make a thorough study of the birds of this state that Mr. Cahn is making the collection.

The original pictures are sent to the National Geographic magazine or other similar publications, and the slides are used in lectures throughout the state, some of which have been given for the extension division.

Tricks and patience are the two things which Mr. Cahn finds necessary to get the pictures he wants. He has often had to spend hours waiting in several feet of water for a bird to return to its nest, and to invent numerous tricks of concealment to camera so that the birds may take their own pictures.

So as to afford an exact study of the birds, their habits, and homes, none of the pictures are retouched even to the extent of removing a blade of grass from a bird's face. Pictures which are artistic as well as valuable, technically, are sought by the photographer, but the bird itself must make the picture artistic and not the brush of the artist.

Individuality in different birds is a striking feature observed in bird photography, according to Mr. Cahn. Two birds of the same kind usually refuse to be photographed in the same way. Some will not return to their nests if the camera is near, while others become accustomed to the sight of it in a few minutes and, have to be pushed off their nests so that different views of them may be taken.

Although birds hold the greatest interest for Mr. Cahn, he has taken many successful pictures of animals in the northern part of the state. He has over 100 pictures of mammals, reptiles, turtles, and fish. Bear and deer he photographs at night by means of a flashlight which the animal sets off with a string to take his own picture. Porcupines and turtles are more easily taken. Fish are the most difficult subjects to make pictures of, according to Mr. Cahn. A strong arm is light behind the camera and a little food thrown into the water give the best results, although distinct pictures are difficult any way.

SHOWING OFF HER DISCIPLINE.

Why should children be taught to obey their parents? The feeling of authority and show off their discipline? Or so that the children can be brought into harmony with people about them, and not interfering with the rights of others?

The answer would seem clear. And yet one frequently meets apparently intelligent and well-bred women who justify the second sentence in the above paragraph.

Just When Everyone Was Looking at Him.

I was the witness the other day of a little scene which made me feel very strongly on the subject. We were having an athletic meet at our summer colony. There was a full of the swimming races and all the spectators were hanging over the railing of the bridge, idly watching the float. A small boy perhaps ten or twelve had just dived off after somebody's straw hat. As he stood there, shaking the water off, the focus of all eyes, a woman some distance away called to him, "Richard, don't go in the water again!"

Every one heard her. The small boy looked as embarrassed as he felt.

HEALTH TALKS

ST-T-TAMMERING.

Ponderous scientific monographs have been written by various authorities about stammering and stuttering, and we have studied them industriously, and marveled at the words that can be used to say nothing at all. But then, the psychologist who will find a word to express what most of us use blanks and dashes for. When we feel our vocabulary running down we feel something by a good monograph psychologist.

Stammering and stuttering, the psychologists assure us, are as different as singing and making a noise. And the great difference it is as clear as clear can be, but after he glides into the treatment the difference fades from memory, and the two are again the shallowest of our mind. There are people to whom singing and making a noise are the same thing.

Intelligence comes in many grades. It is just possible that the psychologist can cure stammering or stuttering as readily as he can describe the treatment. As a general rule, however, these scientists are away behind their literature in practice.

Ignoring any alleged differences between stammering and stuttering, what should be done about them? There are two measures which we know will help or cure many cases if faithfully followed up.

First, vocal training under a stern master. Vocal training is an excellent thing anywhere. It tends to overcome the embarrassment most of us feel when called upon to say or do anything in the presence of an audience. The vocalist has never heard any thing anywhere. Vocal training, of course, implies instruction in how to breathe. That is one great fault with the stammerer; he forgets to fill his chest before attempting to say something.

Second, reading aloud. The important point in this exercise is to avoid the monotone, the sing-song of the average amateur reader. It takes practice and patience. An hour of reading aloud, preferably to a listener, will cure stammering in many instances. The test is that the voice of the reader should sound like one conversing, when heard by a person in another room. Inflection must be emphasized. In short, read as you talk. This is a rare gift, even among inveterate readers. Very few readers can pick up the daily paper and read anything in it aloud in the same tones they would use to tell it to a friend.

I seen a sign, I read it and I said, "that stuff is junk, because if it were genuine and not made up of junk they would not have to advertise in such a glaring way," and so I went from town to town and read that sign each day; I still condemned, but still that sign persisted 'till a thought sprang up that I could not unload. A thought that I must try the stuff, must try it for myself, and so I bought and placed the dope on our home pantry shelf; it sat there unmolested. I decided I was stung, but said I've learned a thing or two; I've climbed another rung. I'll never flop again for stuff paraded such as that. I should have doped my hunch that was talking through my hat, when I came out and said I'm going to give the stuff a try, came through 'and warbled I believe that dope I ought to buy. And there it sat upon the shelf, seemed growing old and stale, until one day we tried it out, then named it "never fail." SOME INFANTILE PARALYSIS VICTIMS ESCAPED EFFECT

New York, Nov. 6.—The infantile paralysis epidemic which swept New York city during the summer marked many, but not all of the victims for life. The home cases show a higher percentage of serious after effects than those of the hospital.

According to a health bulletin just issued, 56 per cent of 2,058 discharges from city hospitals showed evidence of paralysis, 18 per cent showed that paralysis had entirely disappeared, and the remainder, 16 per cent, had no shown effects of paralysis at any time.

Of 2,716 cases followed in the homes, 1,855 were found seriously paralyzed in either one or both legs and are unable to walk. Five hundred and thirty, though partially paralyzed, can walk. Two hundred and seventy-three suffer paralysis in one or both arms.

The youngsters are being fitted with braces and are being scientifically taught the use of their crippled arms and legs.

AGRICULTURAL and GARDEN DEPT

ALLEN B. WEST, Director

Question—Do you think that a silo on the farm pays?

Answer—This question might be answered by saying "that depends on the type of farming," but since the question comes from a Rock county farm the answer is an unqualified "Yes, it pays," for the writer believes that if every Rock county farm had a silo it would mean an addition of many thousands of dollars to the wealth of the county. As a rule Rock county farmers can make more money in dairying than in any other type of farming and successful dairying demands a silo in these days.

Why now more than in the past, may be questioned. Because land is so high priced that in order to realize any profit one must make the land yield returns in proportion to its cost. There have been many tests made which prove that an acre will bring greater returns in dairy products when put into corn for the silo than in any other way. The Hon. Hiram Smith, the late Wisconsin dairyman, gave results in his own herd which showed that 3 pounds of silage took the place of 10 pounds of hay in winter feed. It would have required the year that the experiment was made 45 acres of meadows to have produced the hay for his cows for the winter. The ensilage was produced on 8½ acres. Moreover, the hay was worth that year, such a price as would have netted him but $11 per acre, while the ensilage had a feeding value as compared with the hay of $74.11 per acre. Here we have a balance of $60.00 per acre in favor of the ensilage, and if we add to that the rent of the extra land required to raise the hay we will have, supposing that land would rent that year at $5 an acre, $132.50 for rent of land. How long will it take for a farmer to pay for a silo at that rate? That depends, of course, on how many cows one keeps. Mr. Smith figured from his own experience that "three cows can be wintered seven months on one acre producing 10 tons of ensilage, while it required two acres of meadow to winter one cow, with the same amount of ground feed in both cases." Let the inquirer make an estimate of how much land it requires on his own farm to keep on cow over winter and compare it with these figures for silage and he will be able to make the estimate for himself. It is likely he will find that even under the conditions that prevailed this year, where on many farms it required twice the usual acreage to fill the silo, that less land will be required to furnish feed for the cows over winter if devoted to corn for the silo, than if devoted to any other crop. But since silage is so succulent feed, perhaps it is hardly fair to compare it with hay, though many farmers use no succulent feed for winter and try to make hay take the place of silage. Cows cannot do their best on dry feed and the secret of the large decrease in the amount of milk in winter is the inability of the cow to produce to her capacity on dry feed. The cows should always be provided with succulent feed when giving milk. Stock feeds or sugar feeds are the crops most depended upon for succulent feed in Rock county by farmers having no silos. Let us see how they compare with silage in cost of production and of harvesting, and in the amount of nutrition furnished. Many experiment stations have worked on this problem and all agree that silage, while producing more tons to the acre, cost more to grow, to harvest and store, and do not produce a corresponding increase in milk over the silage. In western Oregon it was found that roots cost 47 per cent more for 100 pounds of digestible food than did silage. The value of silage is not confined to the dairy cow alone. It is also fed to other stock with good success, though it is the dairy that profits most by its use. The past two years in southern Wisconsin and elsewhere where the corn was caught with early frosts, has done much to demonstrate the value of the silo for corn for silage does not need so long a season as other corn. In most cases it may be harvested before danger of frosts, in exceptional years, however, like the years of 1915 and 1916, when the frost cut the corn, it was saved with small loss by those who had silos by harvesting it at once. Those who had no silos lost, in many cases, their entire crop.

Some of the prejudice against the use of silage comes as a result of the misuse of it. Improperly constructed silos or silos improperly filled or cared for have led to trouble. Like anything else there is a right and a wrong way to manage. In the early days of silo building and using, mistakes were made that resulted disastrously. But silos have passed the experimental stage and anyone wishing to know how to build and use them has abundant material on which to draw for his information. Many successful farmers are using them and have demonstrated their value for years. Many of those who have one for winter feeding are now building the second for summer feeding to supplement the dry pastures and some farmers doing intensive farming are making very good profit by using silage in the place of pasture. By this method they can keep more cows per acre than by pasturing.

Quoting from a bulletin on "Choosing the Silo" by Frank W. White we find this:

"The most economical and convenient feed."

"Against early frost."

"Against frozen corn crop."

"Low labor and storage cost."

"Against summer rotting of corn."

A good bulletin to use in this investigation is "Four Systems of Dairy Farming and the Profit on Each," Circular 157, of the agricultural experiment station at Urbana, Illinois. Application at the high school will obtain one on "Choosing the Silo," which gives the requirements of a good silo and describes and discusses the various kinds of silos, the pit, the stave, the concrete block, and so on. One contemplating building needs something of the sort for reference.

DOLLAR SUPPLANTS POUND STERLING IN ORIENT

Tokio, Nov. 6.—Once more the American gold dollar has supplanted the British pound sterling. Abandoning a custom that has been observed by shipping companies in the far east for more than forty years, the Canadian Pacific Ocean Service, Ltd., the Toy Kisen Kaisha, and the Pacific Mail Steamship company agreed today on a uniform schedule of passenger rates, which provides that all passages are to be paid on the basis of American gold dollars.

In the past passenger fares on boats bound from the Orient to America have been paid on the basis of pounds sterling. Therefore passage on liners bound from Vancouver, Victoria or San Francisco to the far east have been paid in gold dollars, but passage on east bound steamers has been payable in British money.

SOUTH AMERICA IS DELUGED WITH BAD U. S. NEWS REPORTS

Americans There Startled by Report That Booker T. Washington Was Leading Negro Revolt.

Washington, Nov. 6.—Many American citizens in Venezuela some months ago received the shock of their lives. They read the news that the late Booker T. Washington was leading a negro rebellion against the United States government, that he was even then passing through Richmond, Va., en route to Washington, at the head of an army of 30,000 men.

Americans after the first shock recoiled at the quality of the United States "news" received in Venezuela and dismissed the story with a smile. In the same manner they disposed of the report, a week after the Chicago convention, that both had nominated a man named J. M. McGurk for president.

Preston McGowan, United States minister to Venezuela, returning to his post after a vacation here, related the incidents in discussing steps necessary to better the understanding between this country and Latin-American nations.

"News facilities must be improved," he said. "News is the big thing that is going to bring the two continents together for proper political and commercial relations."

"News of the passage of the Adamson eight-hour law and the prevention of the great railway strike had not reached Venezuela Sept. 4, when I left there, and exporters fearful of having their products tied up in American ports, were not shipping their goods."

The step taken by the United Press in establishing a real exchange of news between North and South America is one that should earn the congratulation of thinking people in every country in this hemisphere. We need to know about South America as badly as South Americans need to know about us. The average American has got his views of South America from novels, the movies and tales of comic opera.

"He knows little of her vast commercial and agricultural possibilities. He knows nothing of the people themselves."

AMERICANS DO NOT REALIZE DISTANCES IN SOUTH AMERICA

Ridiculous Errors Made by U. S. Merchants Who Know South America Only On the Map.

Rio De Janeiro, Brazil, Nov. 6.—American business men here who recently formed a strong chamber of commerce for the purpose of developing the large share of the trade which the war in Europe has thrown from their old continental rivals into their hands, were chagrined at the appearance of a large advertisement in one of the principal journals of this city a few days ago which caused much derision in the commercial circles of their English, French, German, Italian, Portuguese and Dutch rivals.

The advertisement was a large display telling in detail the merits of a well-known make of American automobile. It was set forth in correct Portuguese, the language of the country, and would have been a good trade-puller but for the last line, which read: "Agent for Brazil, Mr. A. Blank, Quito, Ecuador."

On the maps the straight line distance between Rio de Janeiro and Quito has been more than the appearance of a good broad jump; on the trade routes over which a letter must journey between these two points the distance is approximately 8,000 miles each way. Calculating on reasonably close rail and steamship connections four months would elapse between the time the prospective Brazilian buyer posted and received reply for an order or inquiry. European competitors with agents and displays on the spot would enjoy a most obvious advantage.

Distances in South America are great and are seldom realized by the North American who is much more used to vast stretches than his European rival. In the case of the letter cited above, it would have to go from Rio de Janeiro to New York by steam, a distance of 4,770 miles, thence 1,972 miles southward to Colon, 30 miles across the Canal Zone, 835 miles down the west coast of South America to Guayaquil, Ecuador, and finally 210 miles inland to the high plateau city of Quito. The return trip would be over the same route for mails are not carried southward to Buenos Aires and over the Andes for this part of the continent, and, even if they were, the distances still would be so great as to make the American automobile advertiser's proposition ridiculous.

There are evidences everywhere here that the English, German, French, Spanish and Portuguese merchants mean to fight hard to dispute the lead recently acquired by the North Americans in the field of Brazilian trade. For some years prior to the war the United States occupied third position as supplier of merchandise to the Brazilians. During the first year of the conflict the northern republic crept to second place and at the termination of the second year it had a good lead, which it has since maintained. When trade conditions are established competition will be keener and establishing agencies in the plateau region of the Andes for sale of commodities in Rio de Janeiro, which is as if an English firm would advertise the sale of a commodity in a New York paper and refer inquiries to its agency in Sitka, Alaska—will not help American exporters to maintain supremacy.

To break the hold which the United States has slowly acquired and to re-establish pre-war conditions of supremacy will be the inflexible aim of the English, French and German merchants. No influence, however subtle, is being overlooked to sway the Brazilian government and people. Wrong interpretations of the Monroe doctrine, willfully misleading articles which appear frequently in the press as to the attitude of the United States and its people on the European war, and other tactics of like nature are part of the cunning campaign to discredit the northern trader.

The more open campaign consists in the strengthening of the position of supremacy long held by the European nations in the matter of transportation, communication and banking facilities. Here, with the exception of the last named, the American trader is badly handicapped with little hope of relief in sight.

STREET CAR'S LIGHT CAUSE OF ACCIDENT

La Crosse, Wis., Nov. 6.—Unable to see ahead of him because of the blinding light of a street car, E. W. Spence drove his automobile into the rear of a wagon which was backing away from a watering trough. John Lokken, 60, driver of the wagon, was thrown to the ground and bruised.

RESULT WILL DEPEND ON THE MIDDLE WEST

VERDICT IN TUESDAY'S ELECTION WILL BE DETERMINED BY VOTE IN DEBATED TERRITORY.

FOUR TOSS-UP STATES

Ohio, Indiana, Illinois and Wisconsin With Eighty Electoral Votes Will Play Important Part In Final Count.

(Special to the Gazette.)

Chicago, Nov. 6.—The mid-west has been the greatest focus of the campaign since the campaign closing today—and the verdict of the middle west will be most anxiously awaited tomorrow by campaign managers of both big parties.

Western headquarters of both democrats and republicans were claiming everything in sight today, but a careful checking together of claims on both sides showed the main battle grounds to be in Illinois, Indiana, Ohio and Wisconsin—four neat little bunches representing eighty-one electoral votes.

Has Been Fighting Ground.

HOMEMAKERS' CLUBS FOR FARMERS' WIVES POPULAR IN STATE

Domestic Science Expert Outlines Plan of Organization for Such a Society.

By Elizabeth Staley.
Fifty years ago, when the nearest farmhouse was miles away, and the average means of transportation was the family cart, and an overworked farm horse, which could only be driven on Sundays and when not needed in the field, there was some reason for the isolated condition of the farm woman.

Country homes are no longer miles apart. Automobiles and driving horses have replaced the work team on the road, and improved housekeeping methods are making it possible for the farm woman to have more time at her disposal for social activities. One result of this change has been the formation of community clubs. These clubs, some of which are being established throughout the country districts of the United States. However, the purposes may vary, the force back of the movement is changing; the desire for companionship and mutual betterment is always there.

The farm women of Wisconsin are never backward in taking hold of new ideas and it is very natural that they should be interested in the formation of any organization which will help them in their profession of housekeeping. This probably explains the making of the most interesting inquiries about homemakers' clubs and the plans that in a number of communities are being made for meetings of organized groups of housewives.

As a result of requests, the department of home economics of the Wisconsin college of agriculture has arranged to furnish interested persons with a form for the bi-monthly meetings of the clubs. The subjects to be studied have to do with food, clothing, children and household arrangements.

The method of organizing a homemakers' club is very simple when it is taken in hand by a capable woman who truly thinks it will benefit herself and her neighbors. The first meeting to which she invites women who she thinks will develop into efficient club members, may be held at her house, and the following invitation is one which the number of the clubs already organized have adopted, making changes to fit local conditions:

Article I.—Name.
This organization shall be known as the _____ Branch of the Wisconsin Home Makers' Club.

Article II.—Object.
Section 1. To give the women of the farm an opportunity to exchange ideas on home problems.

Section 2. To study the latest discoveries pertaining to food, clothing, and the child.

Section 3. To promote community sociability.

Section 4. To bring the housewives of the state in close touch with and to profit from the work done by the home economics department of the colleges of agriculture.

Article III.—Membership.
Section 1. The membership shall consist of women of the community, sixteen years of age or over, who are willing to co-operate for mutual benefit.

Article IV.—Officers.
Section 1. The officers shall consist of president, secretary and treasurer, and president of the program committee.

Section 2. The officers shall be selected by ballot.

Section 3. The majority at any meeting shall constitute a quorum.

Section 4. The duties of the president shall be to preside at all meetings, to call special meetings, to appoint all committees and perform such other duties as may be prescribed in the by-laws.

Section 5. The duties of the vice president shall be to act for the president whenever the latter is unable to attend to her duties.

Section 6. The duties of the secretary-treasurer shall be to keep the minutes of all meetings, to care for the finances and to conduct the correspondence of the club, and, at the last meeting of the calendar year, to make an annual report of the accomplishments and financial conditions of the club.

Section 7. The duties of the program president shall be to preside at all meetings of the program committee; to assign topics for the meeting to members of the club; to assist the members in looking up references, planning musical numbers, and entertaining and serving refreshments. It is her duty to assign some work to be done by each member of the club.

Article V.—Meetings.
Section 1. Meetings shall be held on the first and third Thursdays in every month.

Section 2. Special meetings may be called to transact any unusual business. Notice of such meetings must be sent to every member of the club. Once in every two or three months an open meeting shall be held to which shall be invited the husbands and other friends of the club who are interested, especially young people.

Article VI.—Amendments.
Section 1. This constitution may be amended by a vote of two-thirds of the members present.

Section 2. The parliamentary proceedings of this club shall be governed by the Rules of Order.

Section 3. Order of business:
1. Call to order by the president.
2. Roll call with or without refreshments.
3. Minutes of the last meeting.
4. Unfinished business.
5. Report of standing committees.
6. Reports of special committees.
7. New business.
8. Regular program.
9. Adjournment.

Section 3. Dues shall be twenty-five cents annually, payable at the first meeting of each calendar year. Assessments, if necessary, shall be levied on each member by a majority vote of members present at any regular meeting.

The program committee shall arrange so that each club member shall have the opportunity to appear on the program at least once during the year.

Section 4. These by-laws may be amended at any regular meeting by a two-thirds vote of the members present.

Copies of the programs for each meeting and of the constitution may be obtained by writing to the department of home economics, at the college of agriculture at Madison.

The first program after the club has been organized will be devoted to the subject of bread-making, and the recipes discussed at this meeting are intended for use in preparing refreshments for the next one.

The results of the study may be passed upon. It is not intended that an afternoon shall be expended in propounding theories that will be forgotten as soon as the housewife leaves the meeting. The questions taken up are very practical, and the clubs already organized have found the program applicable to the daily duties of the members.

WHITEWATER HAS BIG G. O. P. RALLY

Hon. Henry Allen Cooper of Racine Addresses Large Meeting Which Concludes Campaign in Whitewater.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Whitewater, Nov. 6.—There was a large turnout at the Republican rally held at the opera house Saturday evening to hear Hon. Henry Allen Cooper give an address in favor of Republicanism.

Mr. Cooper arrived from Racine on the six o'clock train and was taken to Hotel Walworth where supper was served him, after which he held a general reception until eight o'clock.

The local band serenaded outside the hotel and at the opera house. F. H. Kiser presided at the rally and made a short address endorsing every member of the Republican ticket.

Mr. Cooper was then introduced and in his address surveyed the handling of the various situations in a keen and critical manner.

He then introduced the largest meeting of the campaign and was most encouraging to the Republicans who have been working throughout the county. Mr. Cooper remained at the Walworth hotel Saturday night, returning to Racine Sunday morning.

Each of these women declares that her candidate will get 65 per cent of the 700,000 ballots which Illinois women will cast next Tuesday.

No More Stomach Trouble After Taking Fruitola

Feels Ten Years Younger Now and Enjoys the Best of Health.

Mrs. H. N. Holbrook, of Arko, Minn., who is seventy years old, has written to the Pinus Laboratories that, thanks to Fruitola and Traxo, she is now very well and feels ten years younger. In her letter, Mrs. Holbrook says: "Fruitola relieved me of quite a large number of gall stones and I immediately began to feel better and have had no more trouble since."

Fruitola and Traxo are compounded from the original Edsall formulas at the Pinus Laboratories at Monticello, Ill., and can be purchased in Janesville at J. P. Baker, 123 West Milwaukee street; a doctor's prescription is not necessary. Fruitola is a pure fruit oil that acts as an intestinal lubricant and disintegrates the hardened particles that cause so much suffering, discomfort, and accumulated waste to the sufferer's system.

One dose is usually sufficient to indicate its efficacy. Traxo is a tonic-alterative that is most effective to rebuild and restore the weakened, rundown system.

A booklet of special interest to those who suffer from stomach trouble can be obtained by writing to the Pinus Laboratories, Monticello, Illinois.

SELF-MADE MAN MUST RECOGNIZE POWERS OF GOD

The Rev. A. M. Buchanan of Madison filled the pulpit of the First Presbyterian church here yesterday, speaking at both the morning and evening sessions. At the night service, Rev. Buchanan based his sermon on the eighteenth Psalm, thirty-second verse: "It is God that girdeth me with strength, and maketh my way perfect."

In short, Rev. Buchanan's discourse was the declaration that nothing worth while can be accomplished in this life without that aid and power which come from the Almighty.

"The American nation," he said, "perhaps affords the greater number of examples of self-made men than any other nation on earth. Men who have gained prominence in their communities and risen from the ordinary to the top after hard but faithful struggles are but a repetition of David of biblical days."

"David," declared Rev. Buchanan, "was an excellent example of the self-made man, gaining the crown of his kingdom through an aggressive use of man-power, strengthened by the power of God. David did not minimize the power of God but taking it in, accomplished that which is the purpose of life."

"Must today, must mobilize the energy of life to face the problem of every day and even then the cry arises, 'who is sufficient for these things, the evil thrusts of Satan pull man down; the righteous he knows or is taught serve to aid him upward and then to be taken into consideration are the omnipresent forces of nature.'"

"Much depends upon the willingness with which we receive God's powers. He gives us with strength but many of us are content with Saul's armor, the same he clothed David in to go out and fight the Philistine giant. But David threw off the clumsy and heavy steel of Saul, the armor of man, and the battle girded with the strength of his God. And we should do likewise."

"Unless we are girded with strength we will not be able to cope with the things of life. Our strength is our real power, as it was within David. The power made him mighty against the giant and all the armed forces of the world. They, no doubt, laughed at him as he went forth. They did not see the power he possessed and neither do we see the power and the strength of God character in our fellow men today. Courage and grace is not to be seen ordinarily and it is not until our power finds expression in some commendable deed that we and ours find it out. God girded with strength by establishing rules and laws of righteousness, by the observance of which we gain in strength in his sight until we are gradually strengthened to the powerful."

"We envy the physical, the intellectual, the man who has accomplished great things. How have they attained their prominence? It is by adhering to set laws and regulations, the principles of physically developed man by clean living and his diet, the intellectual through his constant study and the third from divers reasons. "God had done the same for you and I and everybody. He has set down his rules and regulations. They are found in the bible. Perhaps you will not find them to cover directly every day case, but the underlying principles are there. The text appeal to us to take the Christ life into our own and he who attempts to make his way perfect without Jesus is a failure."

PROHIBITION ISSUE UP IN SEVEN STATES

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

New York, Nov. 6.—Prohibition is a hot issue in seven states tomorrow—California, Montana, Idaho, South Dakota, Michigan and Arizona.

In Idaho the proposition is whether the electors shall make prohibition a part of the constitution. It now has drought by statute.

California has two proposals—the first to close saloons and stop club liquor selling, effective in 1918; the other, total prohibition (including manufacture), effective in 1920. This fight is bitter on account of California's wine industry. The drys say the first proposal is likely to be adopted.

Montana votes on a referendum prohibiting saloons, South Dakota, with 400 dry towns against 92 wets, votes on state wide prohibition.

The Michigan fight is important in view of the fact that it is an industrial state, whereas the larger industrial centers have heretofore been wet.

Drys claim that Hanly and Landers will poll a surprisingly large vote, because of growing prohibition sentiment, and also will capture certain voters who oppose Wilson and Hughes on principle.

Arizona will vote on a prohibition amendment.

Johnson of Amarillo, Tex., have placed orders with Wisconsin stockmen to ship them all the milk cows they can buy. Four carloads of fine Holsteins have already been shipped and six more carloads are expected to follow this week. The Texans are buying the cattle on a co-operative plan which is being worked out by the Texas State Bankers' association. The cattle will be sold to Texas farmers who desire to engage in the dairying industry, three years being allowed to pay for the cattle.

DELANVAN

Delevan, Nov. 4.—A still alarm was sent in of late Friday evening about 7 o'clock, the conflagration being in the extreme western portion of the city, where it was found that the city's isolation hospital, commonly known as the "pest house," was on fire. The fire department responded, arriving in a short time, but not, however, until the small structure had gone beyond saving, so no water was turned on it. It is thought the fire started through some wayfarer, making ready for his night's lodging, dropping a lighted match, or in some accidental way starting the blaze.

Platinum, with the exception of iridium, is the heaviest of all the metals. The name originated with the Spaniards on account of its silvery color, plata signifying silver. "BABY" ELEVENTS TO WIN CHAMPIONSHIP

Ohio or Northwestern to Fly Western Football Pennant.

The "baby" or the "poor little sister" of the "big nine" will be the 1916 champion among western conference football teams. Ohio State, the "baby," and Northwestern, long considered a handy chopping block for "regular" teams to practice on, are on top and undefeated this year. If both teams finish the season undefeated—and they should—they will meet at Columbus Nov. 25 to settle the title.

The Buckeyes look like the winners. They showed lots of class in triumphing Illinois and Wisconsin. The backs are strong, brassy and courageous. The line is strong.

Northwestern has had only one real test this fall—the University of Chicago team. The beating the Purple handed Stagg's Maroons was one of the big surprises of the season.

Both contenders for the championship have "easy meat" ahead of them. Ohio tackles Indiana next Saturday and on from should win with a walk. Northwestern will meet Iowa and Purdue, both of which the Purple should beat, but either of which may furnish another of the season's sensational upsets.

And it has been some season of upsets in the big nine. Minnesota looked like the strongest team in the west. A forward pass that landed in the arms of a first son of Illinois Saturday gave Zuppke's men the victory and put the Gobblers out of the running.

Ohio and Northwestern finished the other two big upsets. The defeat of Illinois and Wisconsin by the Buckeyes was wholly unexpected by the farm domestics. Northwestern's beating of the Maroons surprised even the most optimistic of the "big nine."

Zuppke's men, who had arranged only a second grade schedule of games because of their lack of hope that their team would show any class.

ANTIGO SHOOTING CLUB WILL HOLD TOURNAMENT

Antigo, Wis., Nov. 6.—Contestants in the annual Thanksgiving shoot of the Antigo Gun club will be divided into three classes. The best shooters will be placed in first class, the second best in the second class and those who have not had much experience in trap shooting will be in the third class. The prizes will be so divided as to give everyone a chance at winning a turkey, goose or chicken.

Agitation for two game wardens in this city was begun by members of the club recently. Reports have been coming in from several lakes that ducks are being chased and shot by hunters at shooting them from motor boats which is against the federal statutes. Anyone caught and convicted under such a violation will be subject to a heavy fine or imprisonment. The Antigo club now has a membership of twenty-five.

Shoot Date: Fixed.

Marquette, Wis., Nov. 6.—Amateur hunters anticipating the open season for shooting deer, which begins Nov. 10, are finding it costly. Three arrests have been made by game wardens this far. Each was fined $25 and costs.

Reports from Rice Lake, Birchwood and Three Lakes report hunters shooting horses for deer. In three instances the hunters were caught and forced to pay for killing the horses. In addition to being fined and having their guns confiscated.

MORRIS MILLER

The subject of numbering the players in a football game, which for several years has been a raging issue in the sport, but which was believed, had become quiescent through the recommendation of the rules committee that players be numbered, soon will be rekindled by the decision of many teams to accept this recommendation and by the abandonment of the practice on the part of some large teams, which hitherto voluntarily have numbered their players. This controversy is simple and clear.

The spectators desire that players should be numbered and that they be furnished with cards containing the names of players and their numbers so that they may identify the latter during the game and so that the persons of many teams to accept this recommendation and by the abandonment of the practice on the part of some large teams, which hitherto voluntarily have numbered their players. This controversy is simple and clear.

This objection it is true is founded upon an actual fact, but it constitutes no objection nevertheless, because the secret construction of opponents' plays has been discovered for years without the aid of numbers and always will be discovered, numbers or no numbers. The use of numbers, of course, makes it more difficult but there is no reason to increase the difficulty as to render it impossible. The practical truth in the situation is that an expert football observer will thoroughly diagram every play a team displays in two games without numbers. With numbers he will do it in one game.

Young Grillo, at one time Australian featherweight star and wonder of the American ring, has been lifted from the slums by some of his loyal friends in New York City and placed on a level with real men. A few years ago there appeared to be no hope for Grillo, but the few friends who stuck by him worked wonders with the former ring marionette and today he looks like a real business man with his gray hair. He has a snap to his step now, and recently really surprised his friends by boxing with much of his old time cleverness at a benefit given for a down and out sporting man.

"It has been a wonderful thing for me to live like a man the last year and realize what I have missed," says Grillo. "Why, I never lived before—I merely existed—and not until my good friends here got me away from John Parleycorn did I know what was going on in the world. It was like a dream, or I might say a nightmare. I would have to go back to Australia, providing I could return to the States again. You know it is many years since I left my home over there, and all my friends of those days are either gone or are too old now to give me any comfort. It would be like going to a strange land now. I don't mean to infer that the old friends would not welcome me, but my life here is so comfortable that I feel that the States is where I should end my days. If such a thing is possible, however, I want to visit in Sydney again, if only to touch the old soil."

Tom Jones, who sworn by all that was holy that Jess Willard didn't weigh more than 240 pounds two days before the fight, now claims that Willard has made $300,000 since he became champion. Willard weighed 250 on the night of the fight. Therefore, how much has Willard actually made? Tom may not be kidding the folks this time—but $300,000 is quite a bit of money. Jess was supposed to have made from $1,000 to $1,200 a night last year while circling. Some one else said that $500 a night was a good average. But even if Jess did make only what he has made, don't get the impression that Jess has a bank roll of $200,000. Nay, nay. Jess gets only part of what he earns. If Jess has $150,000 stowed away he is doing well.

WOODSTOCK WHIPS JANESVILLE, 21-0

Last Game of Season—Inter-Class Tournament Starts Soon—Expect to Have Large Number.

By losing to the Woodstock high school team by a score of 21 to 0, Janesville terminated a rather unsuccessful football season last Saturday. The field was slippery and as the Woodstock team was much heavier than the local boys, they had the advantage. The game turned against Janesville early when Woodstock gained two touchdowns in the first quarter. The rest of the game was devoted to the kicking of the ball on the part of the local team. This evening the various classes meet to elect coaches and captains. Anyone and everyone is eligible to play, except the members of the "varsity" squad; high scholastic averages are not a requisite nor is star ability required to make the team. The system is one at which many schools are aiming, for it gives everyone a chance and creates a strong personal interest in athletics.

On November 13 the local boys will play the sophomore and the juniors have a match game with the seniors; the winners of these games play on the following Saturday for the championship. High school students will be glad to learn that Coach Keck, who was operated on two weeks ago, is now home from the hospital and expects to be out again in a week or so.

STOUGHTON LOSES TO EDGERTON, 34-0

Edgerton Clinches Southern Wisconsin Championship by Defeating Rivals.

Edgerton, Nov. 6.—The Stoughton high school football eleven met an overwhelming defeat at the hands of the Edgerton high school team by a score of 34 to 0 Saturday afternoon. It was a main case of superior football on the part of the locals. No time during the entire game was the Edgerton goal in danger, the thirty yard line being the nearest the visitors could register. Only once did the visiting team make first down. The fast shifts, forward passes and line plunges that Edgerton made in play made steady gains for them.

In the first quarter Edgerton scored a touchdown on a long forward pass (Williams to Curran). In the second quarter Edgerton scored another touchdown on a long forward pass (Williams to Rosebo). In the third quarter Edgerton scored another touchdown on a long forward pass (Williams to Rosebo). In the fourth quarter Edgerton scored another touchdown on a long forward pass (Williams to Rosebo).

Following is the lineup of the Edgerton-Stoughton teams:

Edgerton—34. Stoughton—0.

Edgerton—34. Stoughton—0.

True to Training. Little Fred, on being taught when he didn't want anything or didn't want to do something, to say, "No, thank you," was visited one day by his uncle, who was a great lover of children. He was teasing Little Fred and upon his leave asked him to kiss him. Little Fred turned his head and gave this reply: "No, thank you."

Breeding Powers of Oysters. The breeding powers of oysters are simply amazing, and it has been computed that 1,000 full-grown parents produce 440,000,000 embryos in the course of a year. But of these it is estimated that only 421 individuals reach maturity, for the mortality is enormous, millions being washed away and devoured by hungry fishes.

A SENSIBLE CIGARETTE IS EASY TO "DIGEST"

No word can describe that mean feeling which often follows smoking a poorly-blended but otherwise good cigarette. Such a cigarette might be called "indigestible." On the other hand, Fatimas always give comfort. They "digest" easily, smoothly as only a delicately balanced Turkish blend cigarette can. And best of all, Fatimas leave a man feeling fine and fit—yes, even after a long-smoking day. That's why men call Fatimas "sensible".

FORTY YEARS AGO

The Janesville Daily Gazette, Nov. 6, 1876. Go to the Republican mass meeting this evening at Lappin's hall. Hon. John R. Bennett and Rev. Jenk L. Jones will speak at Milton tonight for the Republican cause.
Mr. Richardson had a very large audience last night, the church being crowded to hear the sermon on "Home, Woman and Marriage." It was an interesting sermon and an able one from beginning to end.
Not the Republicans of Janesville—every man of them—vote tomorrow for J. B. Cassoday for the assembly. His election will not only be an honor to the city but it will be of immense service to the state at large.
A rather amusing incident occurred this morning on Main street which is too good to withhold from the public, inasmuch as a great deal is being said about voting for a change. An Irishman was passing a dry goods store when one of the proprietors asked: "Well, Mike, how will you vote tomorrow?" "Well," said he, "I would vote for Dr. St. John, but the Democrats had it last winter and there ought to be a change."
Mrs. St. John returned home Saturday evening from her seven weeks' visit to her home in Worcester, Mass. On Saturday evening a horse belonging to James Hemming and a sulky of Josh Corning's were stolen from the barn of the latter in the third ward. The thieves slept in the barn that night and are two young men of suspicious appearance who had been in the city for some time. It is supposed they went north, but that, however, is uncertain.

BED TIME TALES

Three Black Bears

DEEP IN THE HEART of the Dark Forest, far from the pleasant corner of Shadow Wood where the Short-tailed Beavers had decided to make their home, lived three Big Black Bears. There was the Great Black Bear who was very gruff and had a terrible temper; there was the Big Black Bear who was a little smaller than the Great Black Bear and had a little better temper—but not enough better to brag about, I should say. Not and then there was Black Bear who was much littler than the other two and much nicer, but who still was very big and very black and none too agreeable to talk to. But as is often the way, these bears who were fierce and cross to outsiders, were as kind and nice as could be to each other. All the other folk of the wood left the three bears severely alone, but the bears didn't even notice that they were so busy having a good time by themselves. One pleasant morning the Great Black Bear licked the extra breakfast off his lips and said to the Big Black Bear, "Out-out! What are you going to do to-day?" "Out-out!" replied the Big Black Bear. "What are you?" "I'm going on a journey," said the Great Black Bear. "Where?" asked the Big Black Bear. "I don't know," answered the Great Black Bear. "I only know I'm going."

"I know where," piped a voice overhead and the bears looked up and saw Redhead, the woodpecker. "So you've come back," said the Big Black Bear. "Where have you been and what do you know?" "I've been visiting in Shadow Wood," replied Redhead, "and I know there are some new folks come to live there—beavers they are and nice ones—and you should go see them."

"Very well, then, we will," said the Great Black Bear.
"We will," said the Big Black Bear and he nodded his head solemnly.
"We will," said the Black Bear, "and moreover, we'll start at once." So without any more ado (bears are not so very talkative you know) those three Black Bears started out to call on the Short-tailed Beavers who had come to live in the Wigglewag country.

"Out-out!" replied the Big Black Bear.

Just a Laugh.
A young married Cleveland woman was suffering from a severe headache in the morning when her husband left for his work. During the afternoon he called up and informed her that he would remain downtown for dinner so that she need not bother. "No, indeed, dear, I need you here to help me get mine," she replied, and he went home. He had been noted as a selfish old bachelor before his marriage, but he has outgrown it.

WAR THINS MANY AMERICANS FROM FOREIGN LEGION

With the French Foreign Legion, France, Nov. 6.—Eight hundred odd Americans enlisted in the famous French Foreign Legion in the early part of the year.

The Legion, which is one of the finest fighting regiments in France, has participated in nearly all of the big offensives to date, and many of the American volunteers were killed or permanently wounded in these actions.

The American contingent suffered especially heavily during the big French offensive in Champagne last September, where, the regiment, as usual, covered itself with glory.

Since then fully 50 per cent of the American legionaries have been transferred at their own request into the French-American Flying Corps; others have secured their discharge, while quite recently the remaining ones have manifested an ardent desire to go into the French regiments, which the French government has finally permitted them to do.

The Legion at the present time is defending one of the more quiet sections of the French front, where the first line trenches run just in front of the most beautiful and most historic chateaus of France. The chateau itself has been completely destroyed by the Germans, but the grounds, in which the Legion is encamped, remain almost as beautiful as ever. The transfer of the Legion into this ideal spot for a few weeks of quiet trench fighting is in recompense for the brilliant part played by it in the early part of the Somme offensive, where it suffered heavy losses.

Almost the first man I met in the Legion, after the officers, was a 19-year-old boy of St. Louis, Mo. Although a member of the Legion for only the past nine months, he is proudly wearing the much coveted decoration of the Croix de Guerre, which he won in a brilliant bayonet charge on the Somme.

Of the original 100 American volunteers, who sailed from New York on the Rochambeau Aug. 1, 1915, immediately following the declaration of war, only four remain. These are a lieutenant of Seattle, who is undergoing special treatment at Paris for a bullet through the lungs; a sergeant of the Orient; a private of San Francisco, and a private of New York.

In the Legion's brilliant bayonet charges on the Somme three out of the four battalion commanders were killed, the remaining one, Commandant Weddell, an Englishman, having been decorated with the Legion of Honor for his bravery.

Numerically, the Legion has suffered heavily since the beginning of the war, owing to the large number of volunteers who have been released in order to return home and fight with their own armies. The Italians, for example, returned home when Italy declared war; the Greeks at the moment of Greek mobilization, and the Roumanians with their country's entrance into the conflict.

Nevertheless, the Legion still has members from forty-eight different nations. One of the few Greeks remaining told me he had come all the way from Greece to fight for France and had preferred to remain rather than return to his own colors. Likewise, a remaining Italian, who had lived in his life only two days "on foot" from Rome without ever having seen the "Eternal City" had preferred to continue fighting for France rather than return to his native land.

SHOPIERE

Shoppers, Nov. 6.—Spencer Sweet, a long time resident of Shopiere, passed away very suddenly from heart trouble, Friday, Nov. 3. Mr. Sweet was born in Oakton, Ontario county, N. Y., on December 25, 1844. He moved with his parents to Edgerton, Wis., in 1859 and one year later to Shopiere, where he had since lived. Those early days he learned his duties of pioneer settlers to lead a hand in trouble or sorrow and that "pioneer spirit" pervaded his life and gained him a host of friends with whom his loss and by whom he will be greatly missed. He has been for many years an active member of the Woodman and Beaver Camps, serving in official positions, and a valuable member of the cemetery board. At the time of his death he was deputy postmaster. A marked characteristic of Mr. Sweet was his love for children and his faculty of winning their affection and confidence, and his kindness will linger long in many childhood memories. He was united in marriage to Miss Mary Allyn on December 25, 1866, fifty years ago next Christmas. When they were planning a celebration of their golden wedding anniversary. He leaves a widow and two children: Albert Sweet of St. James, Minn., and Ida, to mourn his loss. The funeral was held on Sunday, Oct. 29th, at the home, Prof. Crawford, the pastor of the Congregational church, conducting the services, assisted by the Rev. Mr. Moyle. A quartet sang the old, life-time hymns and friends lovingly laid him to rest in the grounds he loved so well.

STATE FEDERATION OF WOMEN'S CLUBS MEET NOVEMBER 8

Milwaukee, Wis., Nov. 6.—Every woman's club in Wisconsin it is expected will be represented at the annual convention of the Wisconsin State Federation of Women's Clubs, which meets in Milwaukee on Nov. 8, for a three day session. Problems of civics, art, drama, industrial and social conditions will be discussed by well known speakers from throughout the country.

Mrs. Frances Cobabe, Milwaukee, will give the greeting to the delegates at the opening session, and will be followed by the address of the president, Mrs. D. O. Kinsman, Appleton. Reports of officers and general committees will include the first morning's session.

Mrs. James G. Chandler of Racine, the afternoon session, will make a report of the New York biennial convention, and "Wisconsin and the General Federation" will be discussed by Mrs. Frances T. Blesch, Green Bay. Mrs. Lois Kimball, Matthews, Madison, will talk on "The Relation of the College Woman to Her Home Community," and Mrs. Agnes Nestor, Chicago, on "What Organizations Can Do for Working Women." These talks will be followed by a general discussion.

A dinner and reception are planned for the evening.

Dr. J. N. Hurty, secretary of the Indiana state board of health, will on Thursday lecture on "The Getting of a Better Race." The afternoon session will include conferences on art and the drama, followed by general discussions.

"Education and Political Science" is the subject of an address by Miss Ellen W. Sabin, president of Milwaukee Downer college. Economic and industrial conditions, legislation, civics and the press are to be discussed at the close of Miss Sabin's address.

An afternoon session will be followed in the evening with a few musical selections by Miss Katherine Clarke, and a talk by Prof. Henry Turner, of Boston on "The Social Ideal in Education," and on "Art Problems of the Small City" by Dudley Crafts Watson.

A talk of Prof. William H. Kieckhefer, Madison, on "Crusades of Today," and the introduction of the new president will conclude the convention Friday morning.

An important report will be submitted by the revision committee as a substitute for the present by-laws of the organization. The probable changes are a return to the former system of nominating candidates for office by a committee composed of members from each congressional district, making dues payable before Sept. 1 of each year; changing the representation of clubs of 25 or less to one delegate; stating explicitly duties of officers, departments and federated clubs; a change in the manner of appointing the legislative committee.

No Sentiment.

Hint for Bachelors.

"Since I have given my best thought to the problem I have not found it especially difficult to take care of my sister-in-law's two-year-old baby while she goes shopping," said the bachelor brother-in-law. "For a time, until I mastered the subject, I must confess that it had me considerably obfuscated. But now I merely put the dear little fellow under a tub, weighted down so that by no possibility can he overset it, and then go out to the barn and read and smoke in peace."—Judge.

Route of the Bee.

According to a well-known apiculturist, if a bee finds a suitable patch of flowers by following a zigzag course of exploration it will seek it again by the same devious route, and not in a straight line from the nest. Thus he found that certain bees coming to visit a hollyhock in his garden always came over the wall some 25 yards to one side of the flower instead of directly opposite. They were following the devious route by which they had first found the flower.

Good Farm Homes.

It is not necessary to go to the city to get a modern home. A ram home can be built for three or four thousand dollars that would cost nearly twice as much in the city. A lighting and heating system can be installed as cheaply in the country and kept up at a much smaller expense than similar conveniences can be kept in the city home.
